be expected to arrive in the city this week.

This regiment was organized in 1861-2, and left for the seat of war March 7, 1862. It has participated in the following battles:—Holivar Heights, Winchester, Port Republic, Cedar Mountain, Chantilly, White Sulphur Springs, second Bull Run, Antietam, Berryville, Chancelloraville, Gettysburg, Wauhatchie, Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Ringgold, Mill Creek Gap, Rocky Ridge, Resacoa, New Hope Church, Pine Mountain, Muddy Creek, Noce's Creek, Rolb's Farm, Kenesaw Mountain, Peach Tree Creek, Atlanta and Savannah. They have also bords an active part in the labors and dangers of the campaign through Georgia and the Carolinas. The dead of the One Hundred and Second were barled as they fell, in Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Georgia, North and South Carolina. Their late division commander, Basvet Major General John W. Geary, compliments them as follows:—"It may safely be asserted that no organization in any army has a prouder record or has passed through more arduous, varied and bloody campaigns."

As the One Hundred and Second is the only regiment frem this city that was with General Sherman all through his great march, it is deemed especially appropriate that the city should give them a warm reception. To this end steps are now being taken, and due notice of the regiment's arrival will be given. The One Hundred and Second is at present commanded by Colonel H. J. Chatfield, a son of Hon. Levi E. Chatfield, of this city.

GEORGIA.

Address of Provisional Gov ernor Johnson.

HIS VIEWS ON EMANCIPATION,

the return of nearly all with open arms. When that is done, my instructions are to proceed at once, a sufficient number having taken the oath, to convene a convention of the people. My request is that you aid me in this particular, and when the convention shall have met, it will proceed to form a constitution for the State adapted to the new order of things; will provide for the election of a governor, for members of the legislature, for judges of the courts and other civil officers. When this machinery shall have been put in motion the functions of my office will have been discharged. I have been appointed simply to enable you to form a government. It is not my province to administer law or make laws, but simply to convene a convention of the people. Objections are often urged against the taking of this oath. It is objected that by the oath we swear to support all the proclamations relating to slavery, and that these proclamations declare lating to slavor in the third of the proclamations declare from and after a certain period, unless the people of those States return to their allegiance. From information I presume something over 100,000 slaves—the exact number I do not know—have been enlisted in the armies of the United States, and that others, male and female, have abandoned their former owners, and are now under the power and within the control of the United States, and that others, and are now under the power and within the control of the United States. I apprehend that the open of considerate judgment entertains the opinion for a moment that the government will ever return these people, thus original servitude. The government of the United States must necessarily come in conflict with the relations which existed previously between them send their former owners. Some new course must be taken with them—what that shall be it is difficult to suggest. The question is a large one and full of difficulties. Again, a resolution was astorted by both houses of the last Congress might enact possible to the control of the United States except for crime, and that Congress might enact possible the control of the States, by convention or in Legislature, to pead amendment to the constitution of three-fourths of the States, by convention or in Legislature, to pead amendment, which was varied to the constitution of three-fourths of the States, by convention is now being made and last control of the States, by convention is now being made and last of the state of Kentucky; and New Jersey, Delaware and Virginia will no doubt accept the smendment, which will seeze the necessary number of only two -more are necessary for its constitution is well become be fundamental law of the land. Now, I call your attention to certain powers of the President and Congress. The President is authorized by the constitution to command the military forces of the land. Now, I call your attention to certain powers of the land. See the state of the process of the land of the process o become ministers; we can once more be represented among the law-givers of the nation, and Georgia have her influence in the general government, and stand redeemed and regenerated. There is another important consideration. Do you want your city built up, labor employed, capital profitably invested? Then you must be advocates of the government. Unless you are, capital, ever timid, will stay abroad; you must give security, by law, to property, and become advocates of law; and what is true of Savannah is true of every town and city of Georgia, and of the State itself. I believe I have spoken on all the important points. Now, are you prepared to come forward and extaicate Georgia from her difficulties by taking the oath of amnesty and establishing your own government? I have conversed with General Gillimore and the military commander in this city. A provest judge is to be appointed in every district to administer the oath, give a certified copy to the person taking it, and send the original to Washington. Every opportunity is to be given. Come forward and do it yourself, and take your neighbor by the arm and induce him to do so. Put yourself in the right position and there will be no difficulty. If Georgia is the first State to return to the Union, it will not only confirm her right to the title of the Empire State of the South, but give her new claims to honor and glory. Redeem her, and State after State will wheel into line. After the waste and reveges of the Empire State of the South, but give her new claims to both armies, she will "bud and blossom as the rose." If we cultivate further animosity we shall become hateful to others and ourselves, caismity after calamity will come upon us, and we shall live still under military

THE QUESTION OF REPRESENTATION in the Convention is attracting considerable discussion. Chicago sends about sxty, Cleveland about thirty-five, and other cities a like proportion.
